

Karolinska
Institutet

Center for Psychiatric Research Stockholm

Addressing Alcohol problems: Temptations in the tribes

Welcome to a seminar with Anuradha Rose on alcohol in South India

Dr. Anuradha Rose is an associate professor of community medicine and bioethicist. She finished her undergraduate medicine and post graduate in Community Medicine from the Christian Medical College, Vellore, before going on to do a Masters in Bioethics from the University of Toronto, Toronto, Canada. Her clinical work and research is mainly community based and involves primary care in a tribal population, with some days spent on secondary care in the base hospital.

Date: November 16, 2015, at 14:00 – 15:30

Venue: Karolinska institutet, Widerströmska huset, conference room "Wangari", ground floor

Welcome!

Please let us know if you can attend by sending an email to Elisabeth.johansson@ki.se

See next page for directions to the Widerströmska building. The street address is Tomtebodavägen 18A. Bus 3, 70 and 77 stops on Solnavägen, right across from the building.

Grafik:
Karolinska Institutet
Fastighetsavdelningen
Janos Kovacs